SOWING AND REAPING IN NICARAGUA

Abide in Christ has presented evangelism workshops in over 70 locations in Nicaragua. These workshops on personal evangelism have been used of God to plant new mission churches in Nicaragua.

The participants are taught how to mark their New Testament or Bible with the plan of salvation. A demonstration is given in front of the class and then the class is broken up into groups of three and each person has an opportunity to practice witnessing to another person. During the three and five day workshops, the class goes into the neighboring community several times putting into practice what they are learning.

“... that we may present every person complete in Christ.”

NEW SONG IN THE ANDES

Descendants of the Incas share Christ with their friends high in the Andes Mountains.

One pastor in Nicaragua at a recent conference said, "We have had teams come in from the States and give us boxes of tracts and tell us to go out and distribute tracts and invite people to come to the evangelistic service at night. You have come and taught us how to witness, and we have gone out in groups and put into practice what you are teaching us. Now as you leave we have a stack of decision cards and it is now our responsibility to follow-up on these decisions. We also know how to teach personal witnessing to the members of our churches."

There is no greater joy than sharing Christ one on one. It is a constant reminder of the new song Christ has put in your own heart. Christ changes lives. After each workshop we continue to get reports months later of people being saved as a result of students putting into practice these lessons.

A POWERFUL PERSONAL WITNESS

A group of Quichua pastors said this was the first time anyone had ever come to their churches and provided workshops for their church members. There is an intense hunger for solid Biblical education in Latin America.

A team of 15 university students from a Baptist church in Arkansas joined evangelism teams from First Baptist Church, Ocotal, Nicaragua, to share Christ in seven subdivisions. During the week 308 individuals prayed to accept Christ as their personal Savior. New churches and missions have begun as a direct result of that witness. Another university team spent a week witnessing in Lepeterique, Honduras.

Abide in Christ has been directly involved in construction of six new missions in Honduras, Nicaragua and Ecuador. These projects are a direct result of the evangelism workshops with pastors and church leaders.

Abide in Christ websites have Bible studies in English, Spanish and Quechua.
